SHAW REFUSES ALL BIDS MADE

Secretary of the Treasury Will Not Accept Bids for the Chicago Postoffice.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 3.—(Special).—Secretary Shaw yesterday officially rejected all bids for the interior finish of the Chicago postoffice and gave instructions for the advice-ment for the new bids which will be decided absolutely on their merits.
The action practically was decided upon yesterday, as already outlined in these dispatches, at a conference attended by Secretary Shaw, Assistant Secretary Taylor, Architect Cobb and Contractor Pelree.

This decision was arrived at ostensibly because all the bids were in excess of the funds available for the work, but really because of the strong protests against awarding the contract to Pelree.

Secretary Shaw this afternoon gave out the following official statement:

Bids Too High

"All bids for the interior work on the public building in Chicago have been rejected for the reason that none is within the appropriation available. An invitation for new bids is being prepared in such manner as to permit modifications and eliminations, if necessary, to bring the same within the sum available for this purpose.
There will be the least possible delay in awarding the contracts. The treasury department hopes that many contractors will be attracted by this invitation. Every bid will be considered absolutely on its merits."

Preparations are being made to arrange the specifications so the bids can be advertised in two or three days, and thirty days later the contract will be let. It is expected that there will be strong competition for the contract and that the contractors will figure closely both as to the price and the time of completion.

ROOSEVELT TALKS TO DELEGATES ON GRAVITY OF WHOLE SITUATION

Then Asks Them to Meet Him Again at Three O'clock
To Say What They Will Do—Secretaries Are Confident That the Conference Will End the Whole Strike.

(Special By Scripps-McLae.)

Washington, D. C., October 3.—President Roosevelt appeared this morning before the assembled coal operators and coal miners in an entirely new role to that of any of his predecessors. He was to act as peace maker between the two elements and endeavor to compel a settlement of the great coal strike. The president was seated in a large rolling chair and wore a picturesque dressing gown. His position at one end of a long table with the operators and mine employees at either side gave him an opportunity to closely study the faces of the men as he talked to them.

FIRST IN HISTORY

It was the first time in the history of the United States that a president had to exert his powers as a mediator between the actions. The role while an entirely new one to the president was well carried out. He has made a careful study of the situation and knows just the grounds that he stands on and how far he can go under the law to compel an end be made of the strike. His counselors have also made a close examination of all the pros and cons of the question and have advised the president of his powers.

ALL ARE PROMPT

The representatives were prompt to the minute in arriving at the temporary White House having arrived in the city at midnight so as to be at the council at the early hour named in the invitation. They were admitted by the regular White House employees and shown to the large room where the conference was to be held. A long oak table with chairs at each side with Roosevelt's chair at the end. The president gave a most pleasing address of welcome and thanked all for the quick response they had made to his invitation to attend a conference. He looked as well as he could be expected to in view of the injury to his leg and all were greeted with his usual hearty fashion.

THOSE PRESENT

Those present at the conference were: President Roosevelt, Secretary Cortelyou, Attorney General Knox, United States Commissioner of Labor Wright, representing the people; George Baer, W. H.
Tuesdale, E. B. Thomas, Thomas Fowler, David Wilcox and John Markie, representing the operators; John Mitchell, Thomas Duffy and John Fahey representing the miners.

Before the conference began President Roosevelt and Secretary Root and Commissioner Wright went over the entire situation so that the President might have it all at his finger tips. The miners' representatives in the meanwhile thoroughly canvassed the situation with Gompers.

ROOSEVELT TALKS

After the delegates had been brought together President Roosevelt stated that the affair had become one of national importance and that he had asked them to come together to make some settlement of the affair. He then gave them a printed slip of his speech to them and adjoined the interview until three this afternoon, that they might talk it over among themselves. Secretaries Root, Moody and Wright are very confident of a successful meeting this afternoon.

PLACES ALDERMAN UNDER ARREST

He Is Charged with Bribery by a Street Cleaning Commissioner.

New York, Oct. 3.—(Special).— Commissioner Woodbury of the street cleaning department had Ald. William Dickson, who lives in Brooklyn, arrested yesterday upon a charge of bribery, under section 72 of the penal code, for "asking a bribe or any money, property or value of any kind upon any agreement or understanding that his vote shall be influenced thereby."

Dr. Woodbury received on Wednesday a letter written by Dickson on Tuesday, in which Dickson
said:

To Obtain Money
"If you will reinstate Antonio Covino, who, I think, was too severely punished by being dismissed from your department, I will vote and otherwise help you to obtain the money needed for a new plant in Brooklyn."

Dr. Woodbury notified District Attorney Jerome of this letter, and this morning Detectives Walsh and Mayer went to Doctor Woodbury's office and found Mr. Dickson who had gone there by appointment. They put him under arrest. Dickson was arraigned and held in $2,000 bail.

LAYS HEAD ON RAIL AND IS DECAPITATED

Unknown Man Chooses Sure Means
of Ending His Life at the Union Depot, Chicago.

Chicago, Oct. 3.—Placing his neck
across a rail in front of an approaching train was the manner chosen by a man, whose identity the police have so far been unable to learn, for ending his life. The Pioneer limited on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul had just pulled out of the Union depot and was getting under good headway when the engineer, August Sanders, saw the man step from between two freight cars and deliberately kneel down by the side of the track and place his head over the rail. An effort was made to halt the train in time, but it could not be done, and the head was completely severed from the body.

From papers found in the man's possession it is believed he was a disappointed inventor. He had a bundle of papers, and all treated on gasoline as a motor power for automobiles and launches. He had also drawn figures illustrating his work, and many of these were also found in his pockets.

BALDWIN DENIES WANT STORIES

Says the Trouble Was Only on Navigation of the Boat, Not About Food.

New York, Oct. 3.—(Special).—Evelyn B. Baldwin, the Arctic explorer, arrived yesterday on the steamship Germanic. Mr. Baldwin said:
"There is not a word of truth in the report of our not having sufficient supplies. It is easy to explain the trouble between myself and Capt.
Johansen. He wanted to be the whole thing. That's all. The trouble first started between the captain or to give him his proper title, sailing master, and the ice pilot, whose name is Arnsen. The ice pilot took up his place in the crew's nest when we were in the ice fields, and should have had, and eventually did have, complete charge of the directing of the ship. The sailing master objected to the ice pilot holding absolute sway, and the row began. I, of course, took the side of the pilot,
and saw that he was kept in command
while we were in the ice. The pilot had had twenty-nine years' experience sailing in the ice fields, while the sailing master had had practically none."

Swede And Norwegian
"I have learned one good lesson—
never take a Swede and a Norwegian together with you if you want to avoid trouble. The ice pilot was a Norwegian and the sailing master a Swede. There the whole thing is in a nutshell."

Mr. Baldwin was shown an interview with J. Knowles Hare, an artist on the expedition, who said that there had been a disgraceful row between the captain of the America and Baldwin. Mr. Baldwin was also informed that F. S. Vineyard had said that he would never go north again with Mr. Baldwin.

"I don't believe it," said the explorer. "Why, neither of these men have any cause to say anything against me."

SHAW'S ACTION IS OVERRULED

National Banks May Not Release Their Reserve
Funds Held.

SO SAYS RIDGELY

Claims That Secretary Shaw
Acted Without Proper Authority.

AN IMPORTANT ISSUE

(Special By Scripps-McLae.)

Washington, D. C., Oct. 3.—Comptroller of the Currency Ridgely today
overruled the action of Secretary Shaw in authorizing national banks to release the 25 per cent. reserve they have hitherto held against government deposits.

Will Withdraw Money

Comptroller Ridgely takes the ground that Secretary Shaw had no authority vested in his office to do this and that he overstepped his position when the order was promulgated.
The result will withdraw all the funds now in circulation on this order.

Total of $30,000,000
This will take from the money market and the banks who have availed themselves of the order fully $30-000,000 and may cause a serious panic.

alic acid he was severely burned and it is probable that he will have his assaults arrested. The affair was the outcome of an attempt of the Sophes to break up a Freshman party.

was present at the time of the class fight and defended himself with a

the case, sentenced Ames to six years and six months in the state penitentiary at Stillwater, the prisoner was much affected.

THIS SEASON'S FRUIT IS POOR

WET SPRING AND SUMMER NOT BENEFICIAL TO BERRIES.

SMALL FRUIT WAS VERY LATE

Apples Are Strong—Large Crops of These and the Best of Quality.

All fruit has been later this season than usual, and in general has fallen below the standard in quality. On this local dealers are agreed, and they base the condition upon the cold and wet season, and a dearth of soil's genial rays. While it is early to make the statement to a certainty, the opinion is general that as the first of each line of fruit was received later than usual, so will it be later than usual before the last of each line is received. Although the fruit is of an inferior grade, compared to some years, the bearing period will probably be as long as usual.

Berries Weak
Beginning with the outset of the season with the small fruit. The berries up to a certain point were fine and large when they suddenly dropped, and the yield was scant, the bearing season in this case being noticeably abbreviated. Small green goods brought on the market at about the same time, were wholly satisfactory in quality and the yield was not to be complained of.

Recent Dropping Off
In the last few days there has been a noticeable falling off in the available supply of fruit. Thursday for the first time in several weeks, one firm was entirely out of peaches. This deficit was attributed to the heavy storms of the early part of the week, and its effect on the lake shipping. The Michigan output naturally fell, and there was no longer an overflow in the Chicago markets as last week. Much more nearly the entire import lot of peaches from Michigan was utilized in the Chicago local market and the surrounding towns were cut short in their supply.

Apples Strong
Apples this season will probably be of a good standard, so the handlers say. The home grown product is practically sold out by this time and the heavy shipments into the city will begin at an early date. The yield on the farms has been exceptionally heavy this year, and it has not been necessary to import the fruit so early this season as in the past.

Late Grapes
It is predicted by those who ought to know that the grape yield this year will continue well up to Thanksgiving, but will be rather below grade. Lack of sun must have left its mark, the shippers say, and the rain and low temperature have probably aided in bringing out an inferior cluster.

BELOIT DEALERS CHARGE $15 A TON

Sell All the Coal They Have at That Price, and People Want More.

Early this week a Beloit coal company announced in the columns of a paper in that city, that they had secured options on five carloads of hard coal at $15 a ton. The firm who had secured the coal were inclined to doubt whether anyone would be willing to purchase at that price. Before many hours after the publication of the notice the orders began to pour in. The company immediately telegraphed in for the five carloads and expect to receive them within a week.

Many of those who sent in their orders were disappointed to learn that no coal would be forthcoming for at least a week. But even at that and at any price, the demand for anthracite was general. Where the dealers secured the coal was not made public.

FOR OVER SIXTY YEARS

Has used and sold that old well-tried remedy,
"The Denver Express" for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays pain, cures wind colic and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. 25c a bottle.

Story of the Play
"The Denver Express" is a western play, depicting both the bright and the shadowy sides of life in Colorado, as well as the efforts of Gilson Payne afterwards Lord Tremouth, an English swindler, to rob the wife and child of his half brother on an extremely valuable mining claim. The dastardly scheme is foiled by the heroes, Deadwood Dick and Hiram Garvey, sheriff of Cool county, and owner of "Garvey's Luck." The piece abounds with thrilling situations and startling episodes. The Denver Express will be at the Myers Grand on Friday night.

FACTS FOR FICTION

Queer how much more attention Putnam's new steel front attracts than the same thing does in Chicago.

Now they are off. Which can bring in the most casualties in the shortest time, the gunners or punters?

That Y. M. C. A. entertainment

The Hon. Neal Brown suggested

That was rather a bad break for

WORDS OF PRAISE FOR JOE HEALD

Former Janesville Boy Pilots Many Winners Under the Wire in Canadian Races.

The Buckingham Post, (Buckingham, Quebec) of September 12, contains the following notices about Joe Heald, a former Janesville horseman, who has charge of Alex Mac-laren's stock farm located near Buckingham:

Toronto, Ont., Sept. 4, '02.
Alex. MacLaren, Buckingham: With
Eagle Bess three straight heats, two twenty six quarter. J. Heald.

And again: Won everything in sight with Larable first with Pap.
Larable, big field. J. Heald.

Eagle Bess, who won the 2:27 trot at Toronto in 2:26 1/4 took the gold medal there as the best standard bred mare, and a diploma at the Ottawa Exhibition. We expect when Mr. Jos. Heald comes back from Toronto one side of his face will have disappeared—under his hat. He can well be proud.

Mr. Heald's many Janesville friends will be pleased to know that he is having good success with the Maclaren string.

BOGUS COIN IS A GREAT AID

One Man Uses it Many Times
for His Own Down-
fall.

The boys about town are having considerable fun telling how a certain man in this city started out with a lead half dollar and after visiting about all of the saloons on Milwaukee street wound up about eleven o'clock gloriously drunk and with forty cents in change in his pocket. It seems that a certain saloon keeper had the bogus half which was such a poor counterfeit that he did not dare to pass it, so presented it to a friend.
The friend was not at all bashful trying to pass it and started to make the rounds of the saloons. He would order a drink and after getting it, throw down the half. The bartender would at once size it up for bad
and tell the man that it was no good.
He would reply that it was all right
he had and the transaction would end by the man getting the drink for nothing and the bogus half back, to work the next saloon with. Finally he struck a saloon on East Milwaukee street where he got the whiskey and 40 cents in change for the bogus half,
and concluded that it was time to quit.

Flora De Voss Co.
Manager Myers of our city has secured the ever popular "Flora De Voss Company" who will appear next Monday night, presenting for the first time a roaring comedy. Special scenery is carried by this company
for the proper rendition of the play.
First-class specialties are introduced between acts. This company carries an Italian harp orchestra which adds to the popularity of the organization.

ROYAL WELCOME AWAITS SPOONER

ROCK COUNTY IS PROUD OF WISCONSIN'S SENATOR.

WILL SPEAK HERE OCTOBER 21

He Has a Warm Place in His Heart
for the People of Rock County.

On Tuesday, October 21, the citizens of Janesville and of the surrounding country are to have a chance to hear United States Senator John C. Spooner talk on the republican doctrines at the Myers Grand Opera House. With the exception of one or perhaps two minor speakers, the senator will be the only republican orator who will be in Janesville this
fall.

Great Interest Shown
Great interest is being shown over the coming of the senator to Janesville. Many here believe that it is due largely to efforts of Rock county that he was first elected United States senator and it is a fact that since his entrance into the senate he has always favored Rock county men
where it was possible.

His Topics
It is not definitely known just what he will talk about but it is thought that it will be on the national political problems and not on the state affairs. It is a fact that he is so close to President Roosevelt that the report has gone forth that he will continue to discuss the national questions and will take up where the president left off.

Probably A Reception
While no definite plans have yet been made it is probable that a reception will be tendered the senator on his arrival, informal in nature and open to all. While the matter has not been arranged as to that particular it is certain that he will have the largest audience that has greeted any political leader in Janesville in many a day, and will be escorted from the depot or hotel to the Opera House
by the band and leading citizens.

ENGINEER G. M. DOPP INJURES HIS HAND

His Engine Left the Track and He Hurt Himself in Jumping.

G. M. Dopp, a passenger engineer on the C. & N. W. railway has been obliged to return to his home in this city because of an injured hand
received in a wreck at Sullivan.
Mr Dopp's passenger running between Madison and Milwaukee, struck a freight standing on a siding too near the main track. His engine left the rails and in jumping
from the cab his hand was bruised.
His enforced vacation will probably continue for a week before the injured member is sufficiently recovered
for him to resume work.

The engine which Mr. Dopp was driving was going at a speed of about twenty-five miles an hour, between seven and eight o'clock on Wednesday night, when it struck the caboose
of the freight which had been a little too slow about pulling onto the sidings. Three cars of the freight train were thrown off the track and the engine of the passenger rolled over leaving Mr. Dopp and his brakemen, "Bob" Johnson, of Baraboo, only a small hole to crawl out through.
The latter was unharmed, as was every person on both trains, save Dopp whose right hand and arm were badly scalded.

RACES DID NOT DRAW A CROWD

Few People in Attendance at the Second Day of Racing.

The attendance was very light at the second day's racing at the fair grounds yesterday. Three races, a 2:25 trot and pace, a 2:15 pace and a half mile running race, furnished a good afternoon's entertainment for those who were in attendance. The 2:25 trot was a close race between Lady B. and Kentucky Firewood and each heat was a race in itself.

The summary was:
2:25 Class Trot and Pace—$250.
Lady B. Kentucky Firewood..... 3 2
Sanket Tanker, Jr. .... 1 1 3
Time—2:24 1/4, 2:25 1/4.
2:15 Pace—Purse $150.
Aunt Laura..... 1 1 1
Spix Maid..... 2 2 2
Time—2:14 1/4, 2:15 1/4.
Running Race—Purse $50.

Stomach Troubles.
Case No. 3.—A young man came to me for treatment in May, 1899.
He had taken three treatments of Dr. Hildreth of St. Louis, and six of Dr. Sullivan at Chicago. I found the stomach greatly dilated, the digestive organs were inactive, bowels constipated, and severe pain in the stomach. He had a ravenous appetite at intervals, but food always aggravated the pain. The case for years had baffled all medical skill.
The patient weighed 104 pounds. After five months' treatment I discharged him weighing 135 pounds. His present weight is 170.

Case No. 4.—A prominent steel manufacturer of Muncie, suffered for several months with constant pain in his right arm and shoulder. The pain was almost unbearable. His physicians advised him to go abroad.
He came to me in December, 1899.
I found a lesion in the fifth and sixth cervical vertebrae, irritating the brach-ial plexus. Six weeks of Osteopathic treatment left him without a pain and able to attend to business.

AN IMPORTANT AMENDMENT

State Superintendent Harvey labored long and faithfully to secure legislative action that would remove the office of state superintendent from the domain of politics. This could only be done by constitutional amendment and the last session of the legislature agreed to submit the matter to the people, at the election to be held next month. The amendment is important as will be seen by the following provisions.

"Section 1. The supervision of public instruction shall be vested in a state superintendent and such other officers as the legislature may direct; and their qualifications, powers, duties, and compensations shall be prescribed by law. The state superintendent shall be chosen by the qualified electors of the state at the same time and in the same manner as members of the supreme court, and shall hold his office for four years from the succeeding first Monday in July. The state superintendent chosen at the general election in November, 1902, shall hold and continue in his office until the first Monday in July, 1905, and his successor shall be chosen at the time of the judicial election in April, 1905. The term of office, time and manner of electing or appointing all other officers of supervision of public instruction shall be fixed by law."

No argument is necessary to convince any intelligent mind that this high office should be free from political bias or prejudice. The methods used to defeat Superintendent Harvey in the Madison convention would have not been possible under the provisions of the amendment. They were a disgrace to the state, and a libel on the public school system.

The argument used for changing the date of occupancy from January to July, is, that the superintendent will have six months to become familiar with his work, and will be able to go before the legislature more intelligently equipped than under present conditions.

Mr. Mathie, the democratic nominee for this office was in this city yesterday in the interests of this important movement. He says that if the women will exercise the right of franchise to which they are entitled, that the amendment will pass and he is satisfied that this will be done unless the matter of registration proves a stumbling block.

Mr. Mathie says that in the city of Wausau, where he lives the club women have taken hold of the matter of registration by dividing the city in small districts and after making a canvas, the names of all the women who are entitled to vote are taken to the registration board and recorded.

If that can be done in Wausau it can be done in Janesville or any other Wisconsin city. Next Tuesday is registration day and the women should not neglect to see that their names are recorded. Registration is not necessary in towns and villages.

Mr. Mathie hopes to be elected. He is very popular with the teachers of the state, and many of them are working for him. He is free from any taint or corruption, and if this office is to be taken out of politics Mr. Mathie thinks it is a good time to commence.

THE GOVERNOR'S SPEECH.

The governor's speech in Milwaukee is noted for two things, namely, length and arrogance. The average reader will pass it on account of its length, and the unprejudiced mind that wades through it, will be impressed with the spirit that pervades it.

The question of equal taxation is a question in which every tax payer independent of party, is interested. There is a disposition on the part of the people, to give the tax commission ample time to digest the question and to submit such changes as to them seem just and desirable. That is the purpose for which the commission was created and the brain of Governor

La Follette was not consulted, when the commission was established. It requires considerable nerve at this late date, for him to adopt it as one of his reform measures, and make it a leading issue in his campaign.

The commission was not ready to report at the last session of the legislature, and their recommendations on railroad corporations are regarded premature, and were very wisely prevented from being enacted into laws.

Equalization, fairly administered, touches all classes of property. There would be just as much justice in signaling out farm property for special taxation, as railroad property. It is very true that the one mill school tax caught the farmer, and missed the railroad.

When the commission completes its work and presents to the legislature an intelligent and complete digest of the situation, there will be no trouble in apportioning to railroads and corporations their just proportion. The people are not clamoring for inequality nor injustice, and they have but little time for an argument based on class distinction, masquerading under the high sounding title, "reform."

The discussion of the primary election plank, indicates that the governor has discovered that a stone wall is a stubborn enemy, and that persistent exercise produces but little effect on the wall.

Two years ago it was the Stevens bill, and no compromise. Legislation was held up for three months in a vain effort to pass an impractical and unpopular measure. The history is of too recent date to claim with any effect that conciliation entered into the discussion. It was the Stevens bill or nothing.

Today it is anything that meets the approval of the legislature. The governor has discovered at last that the legislature makes the laws, and while caucus reform is demanded, and some kind of law will be passed that will prevent fraud and imposition, it is safe to say that whatever is done will be the result of legislative action, without dictation or interference by the chief executive.

The laudation of Assemblyman Stevens in claiming that he attempted to represent the expressed will of the people is the cheapest kind of clap net argument. Mr. Stevens was close to the dictator, but a long ways from the people, and the bill he presented, and the measures pursued in attempting to adopt it, were stamped as the handiwork of an autocrat. The people have not yet been consulted on the Stevens bill.

Gov. La Follette will be elected and he will also be controlled. He has learned some things by experience that will be helpful to him, and if he changes his policy his second term may be productive of some results.

POST CHECK CURRENCY

No such safe, simple and inexpensive method of mail remittances has ever been devised, and its advantages to the masses of people are so many and so great that the only wonder is that there should be any opposition to the plan. Postmaster General Payne favors the scheme, as does Auditor Castle of the Treasury department. The utility and simplicity of the post check has appealed to nearly every body that has given the scheme any thought. It has the endorsement of financial experts and of the business men who are dependent upon the mails for the receipt or dispatch of money, particularly in small sums, to a considerable extent.

It ought to impress congress favorably, for it is in the interest of the people. Such being the case, congress ought not to pay too much heed to those who are opposing the introduction of this form of money on no more worthy grounds than that it will give them a little more work and trouble. The pending bill is clearly one in the interest of the masses, and the indications are that its adoption cannot ultimately be prevented.

Citizens should request their representatives in congress to see that more convenient money is furnished the people.—Post, Denver, Colorado.

BEGAN WHERE HE LEFT OFF.

An old story is told of a boarder who called for an egg. The waiter asked how he wanted it cooked. Just then a flash of lightning knocked him senseless, and for eight years he was at last able to speak, and his first word was "Poached." It was a case of suspended animation, and the intervening time was blank. He resumed just where he left off eight years before. This reminds us of the democrat who is again talking free-trade.

In 1894, after the country had been wrecked by free-trade legislation, the lightning of public sentiment struck the democratic party. Word was sent all along the line that free-trade must not be mentioned. For eight years not a free-trade squeak was heard. At last the effect of the stroke of lightning has worn off sufficiently for old man democracy to resume his free-trade conversation at the precise point where he left off eight years ago.—Benton, (Ill.), "Republican."

A couple of business men were coming down town this morning, busily engaged in discussing the problem of how to keep warm without coal or profanity. On a crossing they discovered two lumps of anthracite eggs, that some careless driver had lost in transit. In a scramble to capture the prize, one man lost a four dollar hat, the other lost his temper, and during the melee a small boy captured the coal.

Governor La Follette maintained the dignity which belongs to the high office of chief executive. He was wise in leaving personalities to Mayor Rose, but a little light on the school book question would have been helpful.

The coal strike has passed the point of sentiment. Whatever may be the rights of the owners, or the grievances of the operators, the public has a claim on the supply that can not longer be ignored.

Tax payers complain that city taxes are higher than in Chicago, on the same valuation. With no coal in sight but plenty of street grading, the average citizen feels like 30 cents.

It is gratifying to know that the city is buying horses in small installments. The question that interests tax payers is, if it takes five men to buy one horse, how many will be required to buy a team.

If the Whitewater peat beds open up as predicted, Wisconsin can laugh at the coal barons. There's nothing like raising your own fuel.

Neal Brown of Wausau is the man that the democratic party should have nominated for governor.

Small state issues like the book scandal, are left for Mr. Cochems and the lesser lights to discuss.

PRESS COMMENTS.

St. Louis Democrat: If compelled to choose between coal and war most persons will pronounce in favor of coal.

New York Herald: Unless there is a speedy reform of our whole insane financial system there will come a serious day of reckoning.

Chicago Tribune: Governor La Follette made a speech of 32,657 words to the people of Milwaukee last night. Beer was served after each 1,000 words.

Milwaukee Sentinel: After watching Candidate Rose's smoke for the past three weeks, the republican speakers should find it easy to spike the enemy's guns.

Chicago Record-Herald: It is reported that the Cubans are finding it difficult to obtain work. What happens the average Cuban must be enjoying.

Denver Republican: A Wisconsin fiddler has gone to Ireland to claim an $8,000,000 estate. If he gets it he will doubtless feel that he can afford to invest in something as big as a bass viol.

St. Paul Pioneer Press: The American Tobacco company is said to be worsted in its struggle for the control of the English tobacco trade. Patriotism and antitrustism create a conflict of emotion in this case.

St. Louis Globe Democrat: Another American heiress has linked her fortune with the depleted exchequer of a French count. France will soon have all of the money and America all of the noblemen.

La Crosse Chronicle: If it were not for the strength that Governor La Follette brings to the ticket a few congressmen might find out how it feels to be up against a close finish.

Racine Journal: The name of that pensioner in Agent Coe's ballroom who refuses to accept his $12 pension should be made public to satisfy a public curiosity.

Milwaukee News: With Spooner, Payne and "reform" smuggling up together to keep warm, the only thing apparently for your "Uncle Ike" and Pfister to do is to organize a party of their own.

Madison Journal: Mayor Rose is guilty of small business in allowing only complimentary-writers reporters on his special train. Straws of this sort indicate a fear of allowing what he says and does to stand on their merits.

Milwaukee Sentinel: Dr. Mary Walker's trousers have once more disturbed the public press, but until it is known that they were of a vociferous material, the amount of the fine they deserved cannot be so properly estimated.

Neenah News: It is reported at Oshkosh that the honorable George A. Buckstaff has gone fishing. Well, he ought to stay at his new occupation. He would have time for reflection, a process he did not indulge to an alarming extent prior to the republican state convention.

Marion Advertiser: A man living near Waupaca said that his potatoes grew so fast this year that while digging a basketful, the last ones were over so much larger than the first ones. If this man lived anywhere else but near "Tatorville" we should question his veracity.

Milwaukee Free Press: Those persons who are afraid that primary elections would induce a multiplicity of candidates should take a look at La Crosse, where the republicans held a "spirited" county convention the other day, with "more than fifty candidates for places on the ticket."

St. Paul Globe: It is all very well to work up excitement about the statement of the Chicago clergyman who refuses to perform the marriage ceremony for less than $10, but the man who can't afford to pay that price in the United States of America ought, for woman's sake, to be doomed to single blessedness until he can.

NATIONAL GUARD TRIES WAR GAME AMATEURS HAVE MUCH TO LEARN

State Troops Expose Themselves to the Fire of the Regulars, Making a Sorry Showing on the Umpire's Card—Officers Receive Lessons.

Fort Riley, Kan., Oct. 3.—Military men tried the war game against American regulars and their efforts afforded clinching proof of the great need of a monster school of annual instruction, which official Washington has planned the Fort Riley maneuvers to develop into.

The exercises were in the nature of instructions to the First and Second Kansas regiments, and a Colorado battalion, as to the formation of outposts, and the resistance of an enemy's attack. For the first time the fight turned into a sham battle.

Militia Makes Poor Showing. How the men from the Sunflower state went about this tactical problem was shown when twelve men of the First Kansas, standing in the open at the base of a line of foot hills, without a hint of color near, resolutely kept banging away on their rifles, trying to hold off thirteen regulars of the army of the brown, who constructively represented 450 men in actual war.

The militia pickets would have been picked off like prairie chickens by the rifles, which kept spanking fusillades at them from the cover afforded by the crest of the hills.

Use Old Rifles. That the militiamen were in action was told plainly by the old Springfield rifles, with which they are equipped. These gushed showers of smoke and their reports give the observer the impression that fourteen field batteries are hard at work, seeking to beat each other in the quantity of shrapnel discharged.

Observing the maneuvers with Maj. Gen. Bates and his staff were Assistant Secretary of War Sanger and Acting Adj. Gen. Carter. They will return to Washington with information bearing on the needs of a monster maneuver camp, where the art of war may be taught practically to the national guard of the country each year.

That congress will act to this end is held to be a certainty.

Officers Go to School.

It was "school day" from start to finish. When the major generals, brigadiers and colonels, representing the national guard of twenty-six states, were not noting the errors of the militiamen from the crests surrounding hills, they were listening to lectures as to how to feed an army in the field, and how to throw up intrenchments in the shortest space of time with anything from a pick and shovel to a mess pan and a tin cup.

The maneuvers brought Fort Riley's big reservation into the grip of three giant hands, for this was the formation in which three engagements were fought in as many sections of the 20,000-acre tract.

Men Are Too Anxious.

It was rattle and boom all along the lines, the sentinels and pickets being slowly driven in. Umpires were not dead, else the entire armies of the blues might figure as having been blown off the earth.

At times the pickets would not drive in. This brought the usual comment from the national guard officers, who were critical observers. "We always have the same trouble," said one major general from an eastern state. "They want a sham battle and they want to go in and club the opposing side with their guns, even if it has been arranged that they are to retreat after firing so many rounds. The American militiaman wants everything he goes after, and he will get it, but from now on he should be taught the real art of war."

FUNSTON DECLINES TO SPEAK

Still Suffers From "Sore Throat" Contracted Six Months Ago.

Ottawa, Kan., Oct. 3.—Brig. Gen. Funston, commander of the department of Colorado, was the guest of honor at the old soldiers' reunion here. When introduced to a large crowd in the Chautauqua tabernacle Gen. Funston said: "I do not appear before you to make a speech. I made a speech, you know, in Denver six months ago and have had a sore throat ever since."

Newport, Pa., Oct. 3.—Several weeks ago Charles Jones, a boy of this place, wrote to J. P. Morgan that he wanted a colie dog. The animal has arrived.

DOLLIVER TALKS TO REPUBLICANS FREE TRADE NOT THOUGHT OF

Declares Party That Passed Tariff Bill Is Ample Able to Place It in a Position Where It Will Be In Touch With Current Needs.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 3.—"Don't worry about strife in the Republican party on account of the tariff," was the advice of Senator J. P. Dolliver of Iowa to the National Republican League, which has worried through the first day of its biennial convention. He, first of Iowans to touch the question away from home since Speaker Henderson threw the limelight on it, tackled the "Iowa idea" and Henderson's fling at it as free trade in this fashion:

No Need of Alarm.

"Our brethren of the opposition have been busy for months reading one another out of the party, but so far as I know the Republican party has not appointed any custodian of the ark of the covenant with authority to purge the roll call of the Republican millions of the United States. So nobody need feel alarmed even if a friendly debate grows up within the party and ideas make their appearance from Iowa or Illinois or Wisconsin or Connecticut. Nobody is going to be hurt by them. If there is anything in them they will make their own way, if not they will be easily managed."

Explains Iowa Idea.

"Let us look at the Iowa idea for a minute, and I select that only because I am more familiar with it and because circumstances have arisen to give it universal advertisement. It has been presented to the country as the sudden impulse of dissatisfied mischiefs within the Republican party. On the other hand, it reflects the mature judgment of a man whose wisdom has never failed the Republican party in the forty years of his continuous public service. Let me read what Senator Allison said a year ago, clearly interpreting the Iowa platform:

Quotes Allison.

"So that it must be said that the policy of protection is firmly imbedded in our system, and it is not likely to be changed. I do not mean to say that our duties and our rates of duty upon imported articles are not to be changed. These duties and rates of duty ought to be changed from time to time, as conditions change in our country and in the countries to which we must look for an expanding and increasing market abroad, and also for the benefit of consumers of these products in our country, so that if monopolies are created they can be checked and reasonable prices only exacted. Our experience in the past has shown changes in rates of duty to be necessary, and they have been frequently made."

Protect Protection.

"Our people appreciate the objections to a wholesale revision of the act of 1897. There are no free traders in their ranks. Their purpose is to protect the protective tariff. Nobody pretends that the present law is perfect. Its friends know its defects better than its enemies. The purpose of the Republican platform in Iowa was to give the defenders of the protective system an answer good and sufficient when conscientious and thoughtful citizens, aware of the rapid transformation going on in the world's commercial life, ask the party which made the law of 1897 to take the responsibility of keeping it in touch with the progress of American business."

Home Competition.

Touching the trusts, Senator Dolliver argued that the protective principle finds its justification, not in its encouragement of infant industries or in its effect upon American wages, but, as laid down by Hamilton and interpreted by Blaine, finds its justification in barring out foreign competition so that competition at home may prevent monopoly by the capitalist, assure good wages to the laborer and defend the consumer against extortion. From that starting point, he argued and eluded to show that the law of competition at home is already working to put the trust monopolies out of business.

Thousands at Reunion.

Carbondale, Ill., Oct. 3.—All previous records of attendance at the Southern Illinois Soldiers' and Sailors' Reunion association was broken yesterday when 12,000 visitors participated in the exercises.

Tariff Committee Revises.

Washington, Oct. 3.—The tariff committee of the senate passed the second day of the new tariff bill and completed its work.

NEWS OF THE COUNTY

the prices they command and the press notices they receive from every place where they give an entertainment go for anything they must be. From all we learn of the whole lecture course we believe it to be fully up to the standard of the best lecture courses given in the large cities. This is saying a good deal for a small place like this, and we think every one in the community will take pride in maintaining an enterprise like this, which we believe is not only entertaining but is a strong educational force. No one can hear a series of first class entertainments like these without being helped by them.

The last opportunity for securing season tickets will be on the evening of the first entertainment, Saturday eve of this week, Oct. 4. By securing season tickets a saving of forty cents will be made on the four numbers. Season tickets are $1.00; single tickets 35 cents; children between 8 and 12 years of age 25 cents; under 8 free. Let every one in the community who can come out on Saturday evening and show their interest in a movement of this kind. The piano which will be used at the first entertainment will be furnished by E. D. Bliss of Milton.

A full report of receipts and expenses will be given on the last evening of the course, and a committee to take charge of the course, for another year will be elected that evening by the people present. This makes everyone in the community a member of the lecture bureau of this place and responsible for its maintenance and encouragement; the committee are simply agents for the people. If the high standard that has been kept for these courses is to be maintained every one in the community should feel a responsibility in the matter.

The committee tells us that they are well pleased with the encouragement they have received this year. Mr. Eph. Sayre of Beloit is spending a few days with Mr. Frank Pease.

Mr. O. P. Murwin the newly appointed postmaster of Fulton moved the office into his store Tuesday.

Charles Bentley has gone to Beloit where he has accepted a position for the winter.

Roy Patten was up from Beloit over Sunday.

Mrs. John Noyes and son of Grand Rapids have been visiting with friends in this place.

Don't fail to hear the Geo. H. Jott Concert Co., Saturday evening this week.

This lecture course is not a private enterprise. It belongs to the community at large.

Thus far the sale of tickets for the High school series has been very encouraging. It looks as though the expenses of the games against out-of-town teams would be covered this year.

ILLINOIS' CATTLE TAKE PRIZES

Win Aberdeen Angus Championships in World Competition.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 3.—A superb display of Aberdeen Angus cattle at the State Fair demonstrated the leadership of Illinois in that field, and the superiority of American over European-bred cattle. Wallace Estill of Missouri was the judge, and the event attracted cattle men from all over the country. All the championships went to Illinois. In these contests the best animals of the East and West and of Scotland met. Vala, a cow owned by C. H. Gardner of Blandville, Ill., defeated Queen Mother, imported from Scotland this year by M. A. Judy of Indiana.

Hayti Woodlawn, a young bull bred by J. O. Strubinger of Eldara, Ill., defeated Ohio and Indiana competitors for the Junior championship.

Progeny of the $15,000 bull Rosegay, which died at the Wisconsin State Fair, were displayed by Gardner and carried off all awards.

Heart Beats
that are too fast or too slow, too strong or too weak, are not the kind that come from a healthy heart. Remember, every heart that pains, flutters, palpitates, skips beats, and every heart that causes fainting spells, shortness of breath or smothering, is weak or diseased, and cannot keep the blood circulating at its normal rate.

"My heart was very weak and kept skipping beats until it missed from one to three beats a minute. Well knowing what the result would be if this trouble was not stopped, I began taking Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, and two bottles brought the heart action to its normal condition."

The dizziness and faintness from which women suffer may be due to one of several causes. But the most common cause is disease of the delicate womanly organism. The story of Mrs. Brown, told in her letter below, gives a fair example of the conditions under which so many women work: "I had a sick headache nearly all the time, was so weak around my waist could hardly bear anything to touch me. I would work a little while and then lie down a while."

Failing to obtain more than temporary relief from her doctor's treatment, Mrs. Brown began the use of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription, with the usual result—a complete cure.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best medicine for the cure of diseases peculiar to women. It establishes regularity, dries offensive drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong, sick women well.

"A few years ago I suffered severely with female weakness and had at times dreadful pains," writes Mrs. Mary V. Brown, of Cresswell, Hartford Co., Maryland. "I went to my doctor, and he gave me medicine which did me good for a while, but I would get worse again. I had a sick headache nearly all the time, was so weak around my waist could hardly bear anything to touch me. My feet would keep cold and I could hardly do my work. I would work a while and then lie down a while, was completely run down. Suffered from disagreeable discharge and also severe pains at times. After using five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, three of Dr. Golden Medical Discovery, and one vial of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, and following the advice you gave regarding the 'Lotion Tablets,' I can truly say that I am cured. The doctor said it was uterine disease I had."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing only, or if cloth-bound volume is desired send 31 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

DEMOCRATS SPEAK TO A SMALL CROWD

Karl Mathie and Neal Brown of Wausau, Talk Politics at Assembly Hall.

Two Wausau democrats, Karl Mathie and the Hon Neal Brown, expounded their cause at Assembly hall on Thursday evening. Owing to the impromptu nature of the gathering and the lack of sufficient advertising only a small number were present. P. J. Mouat acted as the chairman of the meeting and introduced the two speakers.

A Democratic Nominee
Mr. Karl Mathie, the democratic candidate for the superintendent of public instruction, was the first to be called upon. He has more the appearance of the scholar than of the orator and his talk carried conviction rather than the evident sincerity and earnestness of the speaker, than from any exhibition of the spellbinder's tactics. In his address he repeatedly urged the adoption of an amendment which would take the office of superintendent of public instruction out of politics and put it in the spring election instead of the fall. Too much of the vital welfare of the people of the state, he said, is wrapped up in the office to allow it to be dependent upon bribes and political machinations.

Mr. Mathie hardly touched upon his own qualifications for the position, expending his efforts upon the proposed amendment. The possibility of the vote of the women of the state in passing the amendment, was the subject of an especially urgent appeal. However, the male voters of the state may choose to act, the women have it in their power to exert a powerful influence in turning the balance of power in favor of the spring election of the superintendent of public instruction.

Hon. Neal Brown
Mr. Mathie then relinquished the floor in favor of Mr. Brown, who was greeted by a round of applause. Physically the would-be democratic nominee for governor is generously endowed, and formed a striking contrast to the man who had just preceded him. With his flowing mane falling over the collar of his Prince Albert, his massive head and reverberant voice, there was something heroic about Neal Brown as he stood before the audience.

His delivery was handicapped, and the attention of the audience dispoiled by his frequent consultation of his manuscript. It seemed probable that he had not reached campaign form on the platform pace, but there was nothing in the scattered audience and dimly lighted hall to inspire oratorical efforts.

Began Humorously
After a happy paraphrase of the Biblical passage beginning, "Where a few are gathered together in my name," in comment on the number of his listeners, Mr. Brown took up the subject of tariff. He employed the stock arguments, attempting to overthrow the dicta of the republican handbox and assailing the attitude of the president.

Passing from that subject to the more pertinent topic of the crying evils of state politics, Mr. Brown reviewed the game warden situation, and in dealing with this question he extolled the independent voter who disregarded party lines in dealing with party matters of such vital import. His address was concluded with a historical review of the public and political career of the present governor, arraigning him for numberless alleged evils, and accusing him of hypocrisy, insincerity and lack of intent in the welfare of the people.

IN THE VALLEY OF THE SHADOW

Thomas King
The last sad rites in memory of the late Thomas King were held at his home, 103 Locust street, this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Many of the friends of the deceased and of his family attended the impressive funeral services which were conducted by the Rev. Robert C. Denison, pastor of the Congregational church. Beautiful and appropriate vocal music was furnished by a quartet consisting of Mrs. C. F. Yates, Mrs. Fanny Clark, C. N. Vankirk and George G. Paris. The floral offerings were especially handsome and numerous.

The fixtures, while very plain, are good looking and harmonize with the balance of the interior fittings. When the fixtures are all in place and the building thoroughly cleaned up, the building committee are thinking of having it illuminated from cellar to garret, and inviting the public to visit the building and inspect the different rooms and the furnishings.

From now on a match basket ball or indoor baseball game will be played at each meeting of the Junior Y. M. C. A. gymnasium class. The entire class has been divided into four squads of nine men each, which will make up the contesting teams.

No games will be allowed to interfere with the routine drill of the classes but each day after that part of the work has been completed two of the squads will meet in a game of basket ball or indoor baseball. This practice will be continued until December 22 when the work of the teams will be averaged and the winning squad announced.
